No Lawful Method of Using the State's Money.

ALL LAWYERS AGREE.

Governor Beaver's Only Way to Call the Legislature Together.

PRIVATE BONDS NOT GOOD.

The announcement that Governor Beaver was to draw on the State Treasurer for the funds to clear up Johnstown, raised a furor yesterday among the members of the General Relief Committee and lawyers of the city. The legality of the action was discussed on every hand, with the same result—that it was not legal. Some members of the Executive Committee of the General Relief Fund expressed it as their opinion that the Governor would not get the money at all, without calling a special session of the Legislature.

In view of the action taken by the Governor, the committee do not feel sure by any means that their troubles are over. If the Governor cannot get the money until the Legislature is called together what is to be done in the meantime, with the work to be suspended by Booth & Flinn to-night and no promise of a pay day? Besides, the pay rolls of Booth & Flinn's men, according to agreement, are to be paid by the committee and refunded by the Governor, but when? With a view of finding out the legal opinions of some of the lawyers in the city best posted on matters of State government in regard to the legality of the Governor's plan of raising the fund, a corps of DISPATCH reporters was sent out yesterday and returned with the following interviews:

A Section That Settles It. Mr. George Shiras, Jr., would not give his opinion in words, but taking down a copy of the State Constitution he turned to section 18, which reads as follows, and, pointing to it, said that it and the paragraphs that follow it are

Section IS-No money shall be paid out of the treasury except on appropriation made by law, and on a warrant drawn by the proper officer in Hon, John Dalzell was loth to give his opin ion on political principles, but agreed with the others. "Any lawyer will understand my opin-ion," said Mr. Dalzell, as he handed the re-

orter the following:
"I would prefer pot to express any opinion a would prefer so to express any opinion on the subject, because I am perfectly satisfied that Governor Beaver will not take any step in the direction indicated without deliberation and consultation with the Attorney General of the Commonwealth, and I feet perfectly satisfied that upon deliberation Governor Beaver, as a lawyer, will reach the same conclusion that the Attorney General will reach on consulthe Attorney General will reach on consul-tation, because there is only one opinion, in my judgment, open to any lawyer. That opinion will be the opinion I entertain now." Not One Cent.

Ex-Judge Fetterman said: "It is impossible for the Governor to appropriate funds from the treasury for one cent or $1,000,000 without a special session of the Legislature authorizing him to do it. It makes no difference whether the bends of 200 or 2,000 men are given whether the bends of 200 or 2,000 men are given as security. The office of the Treasurer is limited, and one of the limitations is that he shall not pay out any funds without consent from the Legislature on the request of the Governor or anyone else. It would be a malfeasance in office and his bondsmen would be held limble. "If $1,000,000 is appropriated it must be through a special session of the Legislature, The consistency of the thing is impossible.

Impossible to Divert Funds. The Legislature will not meet again for a divert funds from the use they were intended for and appropriate them to something else? It is impossible. If it were so, any legislator might borrow funds on his bond and the very effice of the Tressurer gone and the treasury would be naught but a bank for dealings. "The Governor must have consulted with his Attorney General, but if he has decided on this plan of raising the funds, he could hardly have considered the question, as it is utierly impossible, unconstitutional and illegitimate and a dangerous precedent."

Major Brown is Emphatic. Major A. M. Brown, who is classed very high as a centleman well informed on the Constitution, said in answer to THE DISPATCH'S query: "The Governor has no power whatever to individually appropriate funds from the State treasury without the Legislature says so; no matter if he does offer a bond given by good people. Perhaps, however, he intends to asne matter if he does offer a bong given by good people. Perhaps, however, he intends to assume the responsibility of the proposed action and hope for a confirmation by the Legislature when it convenes in two years. The State Treasurer has no legal right to give the money upon the order of the Governor, as he is there to protect the treasurs and the people's money.

"It seems to me, considering the vast import of the Johnstown matter, it would be nothing more than bounded mountiest to get the Legis." or the Johnstown matter, it would be nothing more than bounden propriety to call the Legis-lature together again to appropriate the sum proposed. It is expensive, that's true, but the circumstances are such that would warrant all outlay of funds in accomplishing such a great and necessary good."

Hon, Thomas M. Marshall said in his charac-Hon. Thomas M. Marshall said in his charac-teristic manner, "No more right than I have," when he was questioned on the matter, "It is simply out of all reason for Governor Beaver to take the stand he has in offering to abstract practically from the treasury $1,000,000 without being legalized so to do. The law and Constigovern such things, and they must be

It Is Utterly Unconstitutional. John C. Shoemaker, ex-Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth under Governor Pattison, said: "It is utterly unconstitutional, and it cannot be done as proposed by the Governor.

"Of course Governor Beaver has the authori-"Of course Governor Beaver has the authority to call the Legislature together, which body can legally acree to appropriate the money, but his power relating to this matter stops at that. I think under the appalling circumstances an extra session should be held."

Other legal gentlemen who are "up" on the affairs of the State coincided with the views of the former ones to a letter.

C. C. Dickey, Esq., coincided with the others whose interviews are given above. He said:

whose interviews are given above. He said: "The bondsmen of the the Treasurer would be responsible, for the transaction would be : personal one with him the same as though the obtained the money from a private party. ### SPRING WATER IS BAD.

Dr. McCandless, of the Bureau of Health, Says That They Emanate From Street Sewers-Better Bell

River Water. Last night Dr. J. Guy McCandless, Registrar of the Board of Health, made an important statement. At the direction of Chief Brown, of the Department of Safety, he had examined as many of the springs in the city as possible. He found the water from all of them cool and apparently clear, but with one exception, a spring on the Miller property on Conter avenue, all of the water was bad, and full of the germs of disease. He found that the water in some cases came from city sewers, a break in the pipe allowing it to escape, but in most instances the flow could be traced to a cossepolation. ces the flow could be traced to a cesspool

Dr. McCandless urges the people not to use spring water, but to use the river water as it is much safer.

Dr. McCandless said a filter could be made Dr. McCandiess said a filter could be made by any person that would answer all purposes, and his directions are as follows: take a flower pot and place a sponge in the bottom of it. Over this put a little gravel and then fill the pot with charcoal. Run the water through the flower pot into another vessel, and much of its impurities will be taken away.

SANITARY MEASURES.

More Disinfectants Sent to the Flooded District-The County Medical Society

Takes Important Action. Reports from Dr. Lee and the members of the State Board of Health at Johnstown are to the effect that the general health up there is excellent and that prompt sanitary measures excellent and that prompt sanitary measures have precluded the possibility of an epidemic, the said to J. R. Thompson, the board's Medical Examiner for the Western District of Pennsylvania, yesterday afternoon: "There is comparatively little sickness of any kind in the Conemagh Valley now, and even that little is confined to a few cases of severe sore throat and some cases of measles. Considering the fact that nearly everybody in the valley is almost worn completely out, this exceedingly gratifying condition of affairs is most remarkable." "How about the river water now; is it fit to

"Weil, I don't see that there is much danger from it now, but, as many have an aversion for it, it would probably be just as well for them to continue boiling it for some time to come."

"What sanitary measures are being resorted to at Johnstown to purify the district?"

"Every possible precaution known to medical science. Disinfectants are being distributed with a lavish hand, and the amount is only curtailed by the ability of the failroads to carry it. You know there is no little difficulty experienced in getting, trains sinto Johnstown, and while the roads have done everything in their power for us there has of necessity been some little delay. However, we to-day managed to get up a large supply of the materials which are most needed. For instance, we shipped 100 barrels of carbalic acid in solution: 100 cases of bromine which the National Bromine Company, of New Philadelphia, O., will have distributed; 50 barrels of Dr. Ballen's disinfectant, and 2,500 pounds of chloride of lime. With this stuff the entire district of Cambria county should be thoroughly fumigated." Well, I don't see that there is much danger

Immigated."

There was a meeting of the Allegheny County Medical Society in the office of Dr. T. M. T. McKennen, No. 812 Penn avenue, yesterday morning. The society appropriated $1,000 for the immediate use of the surgeons now in Johnstown, and appointed Drs. Foster, McCandless and Murdoch to distribute it. The Candless and Murdoch to distribute it. The surgest years most em-alleged trouble in the society was most em-phatically denied. phatically denied.

After the meeting Dr. McKennon stated to the writer that while he thought all possible danger of an epidemic from a flood had passed, he would advise all who can possibly do passed, he would advise all who can possibly do so to either boil their drinking water or use inheral water for some little time to come. The doctor fears a drouth, however, and says that in case of a low stage of water in the rivers no end of sickness may follow.

THE REFUGEES.

The Ludies' Relief Committee Attended to Many Calls Yesterday-Persons Received and Those Inquired About. The Second Presbyterian Church was vesterday the scene of the greatest activity. A large number of the refugees were children who had lost all they knew or cared about. They were provided with new clothing, fed and furnish d with shelter, and the ladies, one and all, despite any feeling that may exist among them, were uniting in their efforts to do; good. Several unting in their efforts to do; good. Several pathetic cases came to the surface during the day, and made some of the more tender hearted ladies feel for their handkerchiefs.

One little fellow named Cunz, who was about 13 years old, and who could not realize that his mother was dead, went to Mrs. Dr. Easton, the efficient head of the Bureau of Information and requested her to telegraph to Johnstown to his mother, whem he described as having dark hair and a dress with a yellow spot on it, and tell her to come to him at the Home of the Friendless.

This created quite some comment, but the cause of such action could not be learned. In the evening it was so warm that the janitor humanely opened the front doors to admit of ventilation.

A SKIFF SQUADRON.

Captain Lew Clark Will Command a Fleet of Small Boats Which Will Float Down From Johnstown. A novelist in search of the marvelous and realistic would find oceans of the truth that is stranger than fiction in a trip by water from Johnstown to Pittsburg. But no literary motive impelled Captain Lew Clark, of the steamer Mayflower, to undertake this more than interesting voyage. The Captain left for than interesting voyage. The Captain left tor Johnstown yesterday morning at 8 o'clock accompanied by the following gentlemen: W. P. Clark, F. A. Bailey, A. L. Bailey, Harry Gold, Harry Mackay, George Burke, of Oakland, and Messrs. Phillips, of the Iron City Docks.

It seems that five skiffs and a finil equipment of tackle, pikepoles, etc., were taken to Johnstown by Captain Clark, who placed himself at the disposal of the authorities and did great work in bridge building and direction of working forces. Captain Clark's energy was warmly complimented in a letter sent by General Hastings to Wilson & Bailey, owners of the Mayflower. There was no more work to be done by the skiffs and the steamer must have them for her scheduled trips. Several attempts to have them returned by rail were made, but the Pennsylvania Railroad is not returning freight from Johnstown for love or money. The idea then occurred to bring back the skiffs by water, and a party was formed to make the trip. An abundant supply of edibles was taken along and the start from Johnstown will be made this morning. It is the intention to proceed only by day, camping out along shore during the nights, and it was estimated that the trip will take at least four days. The Concempanch is a rather rough stream days. The Conemaugh is a rather rough stream and is still swollen from the flood, and the voyand is still swoten from the nood, and the voy-age to Blairsville on the Conemaugh will have to be carefully made. From Blairsville down to Allegbeny Junction over the Kiskiminetas still greater caution will have to be observed. On the Allegheny it will be plain sailing, of course. If any bodies are found by Captain Clark's party a careful record will be made and the place of interment will be carefully noted.

CHICAGO METHODISTS TO ASSIST.

They Will Lend Their Ald to Dr. Chapman and His Congregation.

At a meeting of the Methodist ministers of Chicago yesterday, the question of relief for the Johnstown sufferers was under discussion, and particularly of relieving the wants of Methodist ministers and needy laymen in that section. A long letter from Rev. C. W. Smith, of Pittshurg, editor of the Christian Advocate, was read. It described the calamity; said that all that was necessary for present needs had been done, and closed as follows:

"I do not like to advise as to benefactions, but I can tell you our arrangements. Movey has been sent to this office from all quarters, and after consultation with Dr. Chapman, of Johnstown, and brethren here, we have decided to hold it for the present, using such sums as may be necessary to meet all cases coming to our knowledge and bave the remainder for use when the tighter pinch will come a little later on, and the general sympathy ins subsided. As soon as Dr. Chapman and his people begin to get on their feet they will find their wants and those about them, and we can supply them. This is our plan."

A committee was appointed to receive donations for the Methodists of Johnstown. the Johnstown sufferers was under discussion,

TO REBUILD THE TEMPLES.

Jahnatowa People Will Not be Allowed to Gifts of Christian Fellowship-Vari- to act upon it. ous Denominations Already Moving.

Allegheny county has evolved a new form of charity for the benefit of the flood sufferers. It s proposed that by a united effort the churchgoers here shall rebuild all the ruined churches of Johnstown, and not allow the bankrupt congregations of Johnstown to contribute a sin-gle cent toward the work. A very wealthy gentleman connected with one of the downtown Presbyterian churches, was the first to make the suggestion. He believes that it will be utterly impossible for the Johnstown sur vivors to build up their churches again for a year to come. They have not only lost their families and homes, but in most instances all their money. It will be enough for them to do to gather enough funds together to erect modest little homes. The gentleman's suggestion was that each religious denomination in Pittsburg and Alle-gheny appoint a committee to ascertain exactly how much money will be required to rebuild or repair the church or churches of their own or repair the church or churches of their own depomination swept away or damaged by the flood in Johnstown, together with parsonages, chapels, etc. Then let each denomination apportion this amount among its churches in Pittsburg and Allegheny, or in the whole county, to be raised by popular subscription, the committee to be continued to attend to the construction of the churches, to pay all bills, and finally to turn them over completed and free to the Johnstown survivors.

Presbyterians and Episcopalians Ready.

This gentleman said the Presbyterians of Pittsburg would be among the first to start the novement, although from modesty he desires his name and identity withheld until the clergymen of his own denomination formally organize for the purpose. The reporter could not learn yesterday that this has yet been done by Presbyterian ministers. Bishop Whitehead was asked by a DISPATCH Bishop Whitehead was asked by a DISPATCH reporter yesterday afternoon how the Episcopal denomination would regard such a proposition. "Our church proposes to rebuild the Episcopal edifice at Johnstown for the survivors without waiting for a general movement," he said. "However, the proposition is worthy of Pittsburg, and we shall give it all possible support. The Episcopal church at Johnstown cost $25,000. It was all swept away by the flood. Rev. A. P. Diller, the rector, and his family, were all drowned. As Johnstown is in my diocese I knew Mr. Diller well. To rebuild this church the churches of Pittsburg and Allegheny, possibly of the whole diocese, will be asked to form a fund by subscription. Of course we will not build a church as large as the old one, because the congregation is not as large. It was so fearfully reduced by the flood, a large percentage of the members being drowned. Therefore it will not cost so much as the former building.

Baptists and U. P.'s at Work. Rev. H. B. Grose, of the Fourth Avenue Baptist Church, said: "We are already on the way of doing everything we can in that direction. I went personally to Johnstown to see what assistance was needed by our churches. what assistance was needed by our charches. There are two of them, the Johnstown Baptist Church and the Welsh Baptist Church, and, from what I could learn, there are about $20,000 wanted by both churches. I found another gentleman at the scene of the disaster who had and two children, Mrs. Zlumerman and child going to Omaha, William Teuch, Ellen Curn and child going to New Castle, and Harriet O'Brien.

At the Bureau of Information the following persons were inquired for:

Wille Gill, aged 14 years, of Quarry street, Prospect Hill, father and mother saved and very anxious about the boy.

Mrs. J. C. A. Chapple and child, although on registered list, cannot be found.

Evan J. Lewis, wife and child, although shall have the required sum in a very shart.

Mr. Findley, of the United Presbyterian book depository, stated that their church were considering several suggestions in regard to the matter. Among other things it has been suggested that they open a subscription fund in Mr. Findley's office for the benefit of the churches. However, nothing definite has been decided yet.

The Methodists' Ideas.

The Methodist Episcopal denomination will probably not be found far behind in this movement. When asked yesterday what he thought of the general propositien to rebuild Johnstown churches with Pittsburg money alone, Mr. S. Hamilton, the plano dealer, and one of the Hamilton, the piano dealer, and one of the most prominent laymen in that denomination, said: "I am very much in favor of such a scheme. However, as far as our denomination is concerned, it might be more appropriate to extend the privilege of rebuilding contributions to the churches throughout the Pittsburg Conference. That takes in a good part of Southwestern Pennsylvania. Of course, there are probably seven men in the Methodist churches of Pittsburg who alone could readily contribute the whole sum, but the other plan would interest all the people and meet with a more hearty and generous response. One of the Methodist churches in Johnstown was entirely swept away, but the in Johnstown was entirely swept away, but the large stone M. E. Church was only damaged. Its damages, however, are serious, I understand. I imagine from newspaper reports it will take from $18,000 to $20,000 to give Johnstown two M. E. Churches again."

German Protestants and Catholics. Rev. F. Ruoff, of the German Protestant Church on Smithfield street, said: "While we have not a church of our denomination in damaged German churches of other denominations. All the beneficial societies connected nations. All the beneficial societies connected with our churches in this district, and there are about 14 of them, have so far subscribed $50 each toward the suffering church in the devastated district, and whenever the opportunity arises to apply these funds for the desired purposes, I expect that even more money will be ready. Collections will then be made in all the churches, I suppose. At present, of course, the general suffering has to be alieviated."

It appears that most of the Person Castallia.

course, the general suffering has to be alleviated."

It appears that most of the Roman Catholic churches in the flooded district have suffered but very little. St John's Church, in Johnstown, was burned down, but it was covered by a sufficient amount of insurance from which it might be rebuilt. The two churches in Cambria City are only slightly damaged.

"It is fair to presume," said Father Molyneaux, of St. Paul's Cathedral, to a DISPATCH man yesterday, "that something will be done when the time comes. It is probable that the Bishop will issue an appeal to the churches asking for aid to help the churches, but as far as I know nothing has been done yet."

SOME SUGGESTIONS.

Stations for the Analyses of Water Recommended-Wrong to Deprive Children of Enough to Drink-

Nature's Methods.
To the Editor of The Dispatch: Everywhere in Pittsburg and Allegheny the people are alarmed in regard to the river water, fearing that it may breed a postllence. The aprings in the adjacent hills and wells are being drawn upon for water as they never were drawn upon before. Even springs near the cemeteries have come into use, which of course are highly dangerous sources of water supply. Thousands also are boiling the hydrant water, obedient to the oft repeated advice of the officials of the State Board of Health. No one can tell as yet to a certainty whether or not Contribute a Cent—The Restored Sanc-tuaries to be Handed Over to Them as advice comes from intelligent sources it is best But all this means a great annoyance to > bly more wholesome than melted the water, which many are using. So alarmed are the people of some families that the parents are people of some families that the parents are greatly curtailing the quantity of water they permit their children to drink, and the little ones are cross and peevish in consequence. This is wrong, for a liberal use of water is needed at this season to carry off the secretions of the body and to make up the loss from perspiration. The majority of people would be more heaithy if they used more water.

> It occurs to the writer that if there be no real cause for alarm the sooner our people know the fact the better. In the multitude of duties devolving upon the health authorities they have perhaps offered their advice on the general principle that an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure. Now, however, it is time for them either to raise the embargo or furnish reasons why it should be continued. In this view of the case the following suggestions are offered for what they are worth:
> Establish a station on the Kiskiminitas river at Saltsburg, from which samples of the water should be daily sent to Pittsburg for chemical and microscopical examination, and another station of the same kind say at Hulton on the at Saltsburg, from which samples of the water should be daily sent to Pittsburg for chemical and microscopical examination, and another station of the same kind, say at Hulton, on the Allegheny. Saltsburg is sufficiently far below Black Lick creek to have the benefit of its pure waters mixed with those from the Conemaugh. If the waters there should be found impregnated with dangerous forms of material, then move the station to the mouth of the Kiskiminitas and try the waters there. It is positively necessary to know whether that stream is in a dangerous condition, and just about how dangerous. If it is not dangerous at its mouth then we have no reason for alarm at Pittsburg. Not only is this work demanded as a matter of great practical moment, but an opportunity exists to make these examinations of special scientific value, particularly if stations at Johnstown and several points below were simultaneously established.
> The Kiskiminitas river drains about 1,400 square miles, or forms about one-ninth of the Allegheny river. Of this 560 square miles lie in the valleys of the Conemaugh, South Fork and Stony creek, above Johnstown. The headwaters of all these streams abound with trout, and come down from the mountains fairly charged with oxygen—in amount, one would think, capable of destroying a very considerable quantity of impurities. The currents of the Conemaugh and Kiskiminitas are now much slower than they were during the flood, so that there is a much better opportunity for the stream to purify itself.
> A sew days of observation at the proposed stations might demonstrate that there is no cause for alarm, and certanly nothing would be more satisfactory than such a report.

Recommendation That Bodles be Buried a Fast as Found. TEROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. 1 JOHNSTOWN, June 10 .- It was current talk to-night that Major Silliman, one of the surgeons of the Second brigade, who is looking after the morgues, would recommend that they be closed up to-morrow and all the bodies found be buried as fast as recovered. The doctor will report to the State Board to-morrow doctor will report to the State Board to-morrow morning. Manager Scott held a consultation over the wires this evening with the Chamber of Commerce at Pittsburg. He answered all their questions and had a few requests to make. Sheriff Stineman is pleased that the State is taking hold. He says the county could not afford to pay the expense. The Sheriff states that he did not swear in more than 200 policemen, but the number has been increased to about 800. Some were sworn in by the justices in the city, and it is supposed others adopted the tin badge and club for reasons of their own. Nobody seems to know what has become of the Coroner of Cambria county. He has not been here, so far as known, since Saturday.

The South Fork Fishing Club will hold a meeting to-day or to-morrow, and the organi-zation will in all probability take steps toward a final dissolution of the association.

Mr. Henry Holdship, one of the oldest members, favored a DISPATCH reporter with an interview last night, and during the conversa-tion that gentleman said that he for one would never go back to the mountains. "The sad recollections of this disaster and my unfortunate connection with it, would pre-vent me from ever going back to the place again," he said. ething, of course, will have to be done n regard to the matter, and inasmuch as most of the members of the club feel about the same way about the matter, it is fair to presume that a dissolution of the organization will be brought about as soon as possible. Whether it would be of any benefit to anybody to bring action against the club for the recovery of damages can best be judged from the following remarks made by Mr. Holdship:

A Bonded Indebtedness. "It is true that the club has a capital stock of $35,000, but we have a property up in the mountains of about 450 acres, and it is not all paid for. There is a bonded indebtedness against the club, and of course the men who against the club, and of course the men who bought those bonds have to be paid first, because they bought the bonds innocently. We also built a clubhouse which cost, I suppose, between $20,000 and $20,000, and there is a mortage on that property. In all, I do not believe that there is much property belonging to the club on which could be levied. Of course, I am making these statements only from my own view of things, and I do not claim any accuracy of knowledge. While I have been a member of the club for nine years, I am not an officer of the society."

Dissolution at Hand. "Do you know when there will be a meeting of the club?"

"No, I do not, but I suppose there will be omething done very soon."
"There are several men whose properties

"There are several men whose properties were situated along the South Fork creek near the dam. For instance. John Lamb and old man Fisher. What will you do about them?' was asked.
"Old man Fisher? Yes, I remember him well. Now all the property he has got he made from the club members, and from the recollection I have of his place 1 suppose it must be all wasted away. Of course we will help the man when the proper time comes, at least I suppose so." What is the value of property up in the mountains?"
"Ten dollars an acre, I believe, is the price paid. Of course it increased somewhat since we were up there, and $15 or $20 were asked, but I think that all the land a man wants can be bought for $10 an acre to-day." THE PEOPLE TAKING HEART AGAIN. Morrellville and Cambria Will Soon be Able to Care for Themselves. FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.1 Johnstown, June 10 .- Captain A. J. Logan and Harry Paul returned to Morrellville this some kind of order out of chaos. The work of relief will have to continue until the people can take hold for themselves. When the Cambria Iron works and the other mills resume, the people will be able to earn money. The great aim just at present is to give the survivors work. The State is to open a commissary department, where goods will be sold until the merchants will be able to again get on their feet. The line of charity will gradually shade into that ability of taking care of themselves. Until that time has come the people will have to be taken care of. evening. There is a great dearth of canned was secured to give them a breakfast. This is all the food the men have at present, until further supplies are brought in. There is a crying need in Morrellvillo for men's shoes. Among the buildings still standing in Morrellville is Mike Laffey's Hotel, whose generous hospitality to the newspaper men and telegraph operators will long be remembered.

Dr. Carrigues, of Massillon, reported that there is very little sickness in Cambria City, Morrellville and Minersville. Measles are common, but of a mild type. There is one case of typhoid pneumonia, but the patient was afflicted before the flood. Dr. Carrigues, after a siege of hard work, lett for home this afternoon. Before going, the Councils of Minersville thanked him for his work and hoped the people of Massillon would remember him, if they could do nothing for him.

The daughter of Mrs. Shomo, of Minersville, is troubled with inflammation of the brain, resulting from the flood. This is the only serious case of illness in the town.

Down at Morrellville the children were playing on the streets to-night. The lively spirit of the little ones had a bracing effect on their depressed parents. It won't be long before the people in this town and Cambria City will be able to take care of themselves.

DOESN'T PEAR AN EPIDEMIC. Surgeon General Hamilton Thinks Johnstown is a Healthy Place. WASHINGTON, June 10.-Surgeon General Hamilton, of the Marine Hospital Service, who went to the scene of the late disaster at Johnstown, Pa. in obedience to the orders of President Harrison, returned from his visit vesterdent Harrison, returned from his visit yester-day, and immediately reported the result of his observations and inquiries. His report was to-day made public. It gives a description of the city of Johnstown at the time the flood oc-curred, and deals with the efforts to relieve the wants of the sufferers. The water supply of Johnstown, he says, is pure and wholesome, and there is little danger of an epidemic among the inhabitants of Johnstown. Dr. Hamilton continues:

the inhabitants of Johnstown. Dr. Hamilton continues:

"The danger point from a sanitary point of view is the drift at the bridge, and this danger is not to the inhabitants of Johnstown, but to those people depending on the lower river for their water supply. This water, if bolled before drinking, will not be unbealthy, but the thought of drinking water contaminated by dead bodies of human beings and animals is revolting. The clearing of this drift, while attended with great difficulty, will be accomplished. The published statement that animals are allowed to float down the river from the drift is positively untrue." In concluding his report Dr. Hamilton says that the charitable people of this country ought not to cease the contributions of money for some weeks to come, and finally, that there is no danger whatever of a general epidemic.

TIRELESS WORKERS.

Praise for the Patient and Helpful Priests and Sisters.

IFROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.1 Johnstown, June 10.-The members of the Americus Club located in Morreilville are loud in their praise of the efficient aid their organ-ization has received from the Catholic priest and sisters in relieving the sufferers. A promiand sixters in releving the sunerers. A promi-nent member said:

"Why. I don't know how we should have got-along without them. They have been every-where. No work has been too hard for them, and they never seem to get tired. They have assisted us in many places where we could not have worked alone."

MORTON.

Feeding the Multitude. [FROM A STAFF COURSPONDENT.] JOHNSTOWN, June 10 .- At Morrellville 1.500 rations were distributed yesterday and 2,800 on Saturday, and Morrellville is only a small portion of Johnstown. Fourteen hundred people, workmen and others, were fed at Cambria City Saturday. Hospital supplies were sent to Coopersdale yesterday, and a temporary hospital opened.

Precaution Born of Disaster.

JOHNSTOWN, June 10.— The Johnstown Switch Company, whose works were entirely swept away from Woodvale, is making preparations to rebuild its switch works plant on an extended scale at Moxham, three miles up the stream, and entirely away from any possibility of any recurrence of the disaster which has overtaken its works here. It employs from 1,000 to 1,200 men. The Undertakers Leave To-Tay, all leave to-morrow. Petty jealousless have made it unpleasant for some to work with others, and beside, now that the State is to take charge and volunteer service is retired, they say the State can and must hire undertakers to bury the dead.

WHAT A BAILWAY WANTS.

A Street Dicker in Allegheny-Howard Street Retaining Wall.

The Street Railway Committee of Allegheny Councils last night considered the proposition of the Ohio Connecting Railway Company to secure the right of way over Preble and McClure avenues and the Lecky and Verner roads in return for the building of a viaduct on Spruce street with a return on Benton street, the grade crossing of the Verner road at Porter street to be abandoned, to carry the Lockey road over McClure avenue and the valley at Wood's Run to California avenue, to build a drive-way about one mile long from Bennett station to Jack's Run. A vladuct would be built to carry McClure avenue over the tracks of the Ft. Wayne road and the bridge would be the entire width of that street at an elevation of 40 feet.

The ciry is asked to vacate Leckey road at the crossing of the Ohio connecting road and the Ft. Wayne. This the sub-committee thought hardly necessary and recommended the adoption of the proposition with that exception.
They suggest that the Leckey road be not vacated, but the crossing at that point be abandoned and the railroad company put up steps from Leckey avenue to McClure avenue.

The committee instructed the City Solieltor to prepare an ordinance embodying the proposition. Street Dicker in Allegheny-Howard

SQUEEZED HER BABY TO DEATH.

The Fate of a One-and-n-Half Year Old Child Whose Mother Went to Jail. A year-and-a-half old child belonging to Philip Hoffman, of Smallman street, suffered internal injuries yesterday which will probably cause death.

A constable came to the house to take Mrs. Hoffman to jail on a charge of disorderly conduct. A woman named Mrs. Donohoe was nursing Mrs. Hoffman's child at the time. The mother broke down, and when saying good beconvulsively tore the infant from the arms of Mrs. Donohoe and embraced it frantically. The little one soon after gave evidence of great suffering. Doctor Mayer was summoned. He said the child had been squeezed to death and could not live. The doctor further stated that the baby had been frequently neglected, as shown by its system. cause death.
